

Workers World Party presents a

MINI-CONFERENCE and ONE-DAY SCHOOL

on

Marxism & Revolution Today

With Workers World Newspaper Managing Editors:

Saturday

APRIL 21, 2007

10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

5920 Second Avenue, Detroit, MI

North of Wayne State University off I-94; one block west of Cass Ave.

Doors open at 9 a.m. For registration and light breakfast.

Conference begins promptly at 10 a.m. Lunch served in the hall.

(Donation: $5/$1-unemployed, students, fixed income; no one turned away.)

Karl Marx,
c. 1839,
age 21

Leslie Feinberg

*Author & leader in the struggle for Lesbian/Gay/Bisexual/
Transgender equality & liberation*

LeiLani Dowell

*Leader of national youth organization
FIST: Fight Imperialism—Stand Together*

TENTATIVE SCHEDULE:

SESSION 1: 10 a.m. to 12 p.m.

What is Marxism? Presentations and discussion on basic tenets of Marxism—historical materialism, the labor theory of value, economic foundations for the class struggle and how capitalism lays the basis for its own demise, the national question, the right of oppressed nations to self-determination, and the roots of women's and LGBT oppression.

12 p.m. to 1 p.m. Lunch in the hall

SESSION 2: 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.

How does Marxism apply to today's struggles? Presentations and discussion on Marxism and the immigrants' rights struggle and union movement, the anti-war, anti-imperialist movements and support for resistance against capitalist oppression.

SESSION 3: 3 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Why is a revolutionary party necessary to fight for a socialist future? Presentations and discussion on the need for a revolutionary Leninist party, the political history of Workers World Party, the role of a party in revolutionary and working class movements, the party newspaper, what it means to belong to a party like WWP, and the Marxist vision of a classless society

Labor Donated

For housing and other information, and to pre-register, contact Workers World Party (313) 831-0750